

The Illinois Roofing Industry Licensing Act was recently amended and the following changes are in effect as of January 1, 2008:

- Section 3.5 (d) has been added which will not require the qualifying party of a sole proprietorship currently licensed, and previously exempt from the examination requirements, to take the examination if there is a change of entity type to a corporation, business trust or other legal entity, where the ownership and qualifying party of the business remains the same.
- This Section also exempts from examination the qualifying party of a partnership, corporation, business trust or other legal entity currently licensed when the qualifying party is named as a new entity's qualifying party and the ownership of the new entity remains the same.
